

6th ANNUAL GROUND CONTROL CONFERENCE

March 10th, 2010

Booked Heartland Community College in Normal IL

ERO-TEX, a supplier of erosion and sediment control products and services, is sponsoring this event. The conference will provide many opportunities for learning, including exhibits, several workshop tracks, hands-on installation demonstrations, and a full day of direct interaction with some of the leading manufactures in the industry.

The entire conference program has been developed with the goal of providing participants with practical tools needed for effective erosion and sediment control. With the demand for sound practices, continuing education is of extreme importance.

Our 2009 program offered participants to choose one of three educational workshop tracks, and the opportunity to experience hands-on installation demonstrations. In addition, we are offered the tutorial and examination for the Certified Inspector of Sediment and Erosion Control (CISEC[®]) program.

We are still developing our 2010 program and will post it in fall of 2009.

Working in partnership with its key suppliers, ERO-TEX is proud to sponsor this conference and hopes that each and every registrant benefits from participation in the program's events.
